AT a period, when Sacred Music is making rapid progress toward perfection—when it already holds an elevated rank in the circle of science—when a love for delightful melody, and rich and sublime harmony, is become general and ardent—when the taste for this species of devotional entertainment is very much refined and improved—when Sacred Oratorios excite a deep interest in the public feeling, and are sentimentally patronized by the devout, the learned, accomplished, and opulent class of society; and are about to constitute a pleasing, exalted, religious, and permanent entertainment in the principal towns and cities of our country—At this very auspicious period, we have the great satisfaction to present our subscribers and patrons the ORATORIO OF THE CREATION, by Haydn:—A work of unbounded celebrity in all parts of Europe:—A work, classical, scientific, and sacred—of wonderful conception, of surprising genius, of masterly execution:—A work, commencing, in description, at the gloomy, chaotic state of the world, and exhibiting, by musical combination, the jarring elements, when first put in motion, till, by various evolutions, they finally issue in that perfect order and harmony, emphatically called the “Music of the Spheres:”—A work, impressively representing, by Recitatives, Solos, Duets, Trios, and Choruses, the sudden dissipation of the dismal shades of darkness before the splendid beams of the celestial luminary—the rapid flight of the apostate angels from the mansions of light, glory, and happiness, down to the abyss of despair, and endless night—describing, in its progress, the various labors of the Almighty—and, at the close of each successive day, celebrating his praise in sublime Chorus, till the sixth revolving Sun announces Creation complete.

This valuable work embraces all that variety, beauty, and sweetness of melody—all that richness, grandeur, and sublimity of harmony, which the most fruitful imagination can invent, or the most profound musical talents produce. Its symphonies, and accompaniments, are brilliant, and beautiful beyond description—exceedingly admired by all professors of music throughout the Union. It is a production, that will, unquestionably, stand the test of ages.

On account of the unexpected magnitude of this work, and the many unforeseen difficulties of expressing, by types, all the niceties, which may be executed by an engraver, the time of its publication has been considerably protracted.

We have, throughout this work, so far as could be accomplished by types, endeavored to preserve a fac simile of the English copy, published by Clementi; and it affords us no small degree of happiness to find, that our deviations from that copy—which have, indeed, principally proceeded from necessity—are of little consequence.

No pains, nor expenditure of time and money, have been spared to render this publication handsome and correct. The proof-sheets have had several careful inspections, by the President and Vice-President of the Handel and Haydn Society, whose correctness, taste, and ability, in this respect, are sufficient to warrant a correct copy—as far at least as is practicable; and to whom we feel greatly indebted for the aid they have afforded us in our undertaking.

Upon the whole, we feel confident, in saying, that this publication is as free from typographical, and all other errors, as could reasonably be expected; and that the mechanical execution is not inferior to that contemplated in the prospectus, and will meet the full approbation of our patrons.

As the number of pages, on account of the very close order of the English engraved copy, especially in the Piano Forte accompaniments, have necessarily exceeded, by 30 pages, the number contemplated in the prospectus, (140), we feel it our indispensable duty, in justice to ourselves, and, we are persuaded, in perfect accordance with the feelings of our subscribers, to enhance the price 25 cents per copy.

As this excellent work was but partially known in our country at the commencement of its publication, and consequently received a very inconsiderable patronage, except by the Handel and Haydn Society, of Boston, it was thought advisable not to risk a large edition. Since that time, however, our subscriptions have greatly increased, so that there will remain on hand but a very few copies, after our subscribers are supplied. Non-subscribers, therefore, who wish for a copy of this work, will make immediate application.

Before we dismiss this subject, we cannot, without doing violence to our own feelings, and injustice to our patrons, refrain from expressing our acknowledgements for their liberal encouragement to this publication. We hope, and indeed we confidently believe, they will be amply remunerated in chanting the rapturous strains contained in its pages.

That this publication may have an influence, in proportion to its intrinsic worth, in refining and elevating the standard of taste among the lovers of Sacred Music—and essentially aid the progress of genuine virtue, piety, and spiritual devotion, in our happy country, is the sincere and ardent desire of the

PIANO For. RECIT.
FORTE.

This system contains the first staff of music for Gabriel's recitation. It begins with a treble clef, a common time signature (C), and a key signature of one flat (B-flat). The melody consists of eighth and quarter notes. Below the staff, the lyrics are written. The piano accompaniment is shown in the second and third staves, with the second staff starting with a piano (PIANO) dynamic and the third staff with a forte (FORTE) dynamic. The piano part consists of chords and single notes.

The musical score is written on five staves. The first four staves are vocal parts, each with a treble clef and a key signature of one flat (B-flat). The lyrics 'al - - le - - lu - - ja, al - - le - lu - - - ja.' are written below each vocal staff. The fifth staff is a piano accompaniment, featuring a treble and bass clef with a key signature of one flat. It includes various musical notations such as chords, single notes, and rests, with some notes marked with an '8'.

PART III.

RECIT. Largo.

The musical score is written for a piano and organ. It consists of three systems of music, each with a piano staff (treble clef) and an organ staff (bass clef). The key signature is three sharps (F#, C#, G#) and the time signature is 3/4. The tempo is marked 'RECIT. Largo.'.

The first system of the musical score is written on a single staff with a treble clef. The key signature has one flat (B-flat), and the time signature is 7/8. The melody begins with a quarter note G4, followed by an eighth rest, then a dotted quarter note A4. This is followed by a pair of beamed eighth notes: G4 and F#4. The next measure contains a dotted quarter note E4 and an eighth rest. The final measure of the system consists of a dotted quarter note D4 and an eighth rest. The system concludes with a double bar line.

A musical score for the song 'The Rose Tree'. It features a single staff with a treble clef and a key signature of one flat (B-flat). The melody is written in a simple, folk-like style with various note values including eighth and sixteenth notes, and rests. The score is divided into measures by vertical bar lines.

The first system of musical notation for 'The Bird Song' is written on a single staff. It begins with a treble clef and a key signature of one flat (B-flat). The melody consists of several measures, with some notes marked with an accent (^) above them. The notation includes eighth and sixteenth notes, as well as rests.

A single staff of handwritten musical notation. The staff begins with a treble clef and a key signature of one flat (B-flat). The music consists of several measures, each separated by a vertical bar line. The notes are written in a cursive, handwritten style, with some notes having stems and others being beamed together. There are also rests and other musical symbols present throughout the piece.
